

Why should a useful discovery not thought to be patentable be disclosed?

It is the responsibility of CSURF and VPRIT Office to make the decision on patentability, not that of the disclosing party. It is also important to note that the University may be able to license an Invention, whether or not it is patentable, if commercial firms have an interest in it.